

EAGLES EDITION

Principal's Message

Robin Yeargain

Dear EDUPRIZE Parents,

We are flying through Quarter 2, with only 3 1/2 more weeks left! Of course, these weeks will be packed with lots of instruction and assessments to check mastery of standards taught. In addition, we will have Cottage Fair night the last full week of school, a school-wide assembly on the last Friday of school, and lots of culminating activities in between to wrap up all the learning. I hope that you plan on attending Cottage Fair as the children ALWAYS love showing off the hard work they have completed! You are also invited to our 1st-6th grade assembly from 10:45-11:30 on December 20th. It will be in the B4 gym and it will highlight our athletes that play on our sports teams, our clubs, our band, our cheer and dance team, our Exceptional Eagle recipients, our Gilbert Students of the Month and our winning grade level classes participating in a Go for the GOLD themed game! It will be an awesome assembly with much celebration!

I wanted to remind you, since we are coming up to the halfway mark of our school year, that each year, we want every student to read 100 hours. Reading is the core to all learning, so we focus on an achievable goal for all our students, 100 hours. We also have some extra special rewards for students, knowing that some students like a challenge. The rewards for the students are based on the number of hours read. Each child should have a calendar at home which is turned in monthly to track his/her reading hours. This year, students even earn points for their class in our school-wide competition for turning their calendars in on time. If you are unfamiliar with this, please reach out to your child's teacher. Even though reading is its own reward, the events planned are super fun and are designed to motivate the students to become lifelong readers. This year's reading rewards for kindergarten through sixth grade are as follows:

- 100 Hours Water Day (GOAL for ALL students!)
- 200 Hours Pancakes with the Principal
- 300 Hours Book from the PTN Book Sale
- 500 Hours Books and/or Gift Card

Kindly,
Robin

*Also, don't forget the Gobbler Gallop is next Wednesday, which is a half-day for all schedules.

SEL CORNER

(SOCIAL AND EMOTIONAL LEARNING)

Dear EDUPRIZE families,

The Holidays are a time for spending quality time and making memories with family and friends - but for some kids, that can be tricky. Today I will focus on giving you some tips for helping kids navigate these holiday social events.

1. Restrictive clothing - Comfort is more important than being "picture perfect."
2. Too much sitting quietly - Young children especially struggle with this. Help them tolerate this by bringing small, quiet toys for them to play with.
3. Greetings - Role play family greetings (hugs, kisses, etc.) ahead of time because some children prefer more/less physical contact.
4. Unclear rituals - Children don't intuitively know the "why" behind certain traditions or rituals. Talk to them ahead of time about what to expect.
5. Too much stimulation - Bring headphones or earplugs to block out excess noise or solo activities (like a coloring book) in case your child needs to retreat and regroup.
6. Making small talk - Practice conversation starters/basics to help kids be more comfortable talking with family members they don't see often.
7. Unfamiliar foods - Encourage your child to try new foods, but don't force it. A big event is not the time to insist your child tries something new.
